Week 3

Tuesday, September 28

Care at Home
Dan Huynh, MD and Angel Vargas
This session highlights Kaiser Permanente’s work in two regions to bring care home and how that work will be scaled for the enterprise.

Leading with Community Health: Our Approach to Social Determinants
Stephanie Ledesma
As a nonprofit organization with a social mission, Kaiser Permanente invests in the communities we serve. Our Community Health work addresses health inequities and supports our communities’ non-medical needs.

Thursday, September 30

Designing with Patients: A Recipe for Success
Scott Heisler and Trina Histon
In this practical session, we’ll share Kaiser Permanente’s recipe for designing technology, process, and service solutions with patients as our partners.

Transforming the Patient Experience
Hans Donkersloot and Sara Flores
Health systems worldwide recognize how patient experience affects health outcomes. In the U.S., health systems are measured on patient experience. Hear how Kaiser Permanente has worked over the years to achieve high ratings in patient experience and satisfaction.

Week 4

Tuesday, October 5

Big Data Insights: Making Data Actionable
Sabrina Dahlgren and Taposh Roy
Kaiser Permanente has more than 100 petabytes of data. How do we leverage it? This session will explore our strategy around data while highlighting new initiatives focused on social health.

IT Innovation
Prithish Negi
This session highlights the approach our IT organization takes to evaluating emerging technologies, designing new solutions with clinical and business partners, and transferring successful pilots into operations.

Thursday, October 7

Virtual Care: What We’ve Learned
Mary Reed, DrPH
Studies by our Division of Research teams have quantified the experience and potential of virtual care. This session provides insights into the data and what it means for the future of virtual care.

Program Close: Resiliency in Health Care Organizations
Skip Skivington
In the final session, we’ll reflect on what it takes to be a resilient organization through the inevitable change and disruptions impacting health care in the U.S. and around the world.
